"Resilient Ventilation For Today's Mine"

The organizing committee is pleased to welcome you to the 13th International Mine Ventilation Congress (IMVC 2026), which will be held on the enchanting island of Bali, Indonesia, from 9th to 13th November 2026.

Bali, with its breathtaking landscapes and rich cultural heritage, offers the perfect backdrop for global minds to gather, exchange insights, and spark collaborations that transcend borders. We are delighted to host you in this serene setting, where tradition and innovation harmoniously coexist.

This congress has long served as an important international platform where science meets practice – where academics, engineers, researchers, professionals, and industry leaders gather to exchange knowledge, and spark innovations in mine ventilation for sustainable mining future. In 2026, we aim to carry this tradition forward with GHG emission reduction, fresh inspiration – not only by the brilliance of the discussions and presentations – but by the warmth of the local community and the spirit of connection that defines this event.

We are proud to present a rich program of technical sessions, keynote speeches, interactive panels, site visits, and networking forums that reflect the diversity and complexity of our sector. We also invite you to engage with our exhibition space, where solution providers from around the world will showcase the latest technologies reshaping the ventilation landscape. Whether you are returning to the IMVC or joining us for the first time, we believe your presence, expertise, and ideas will help make this congress a landmark event; not just for mine ventilation, but for the future of mining as a whole. Let us make this congress truly unforgettable.

We look forward to welcoming you to Bali in November 2026 for a week of insight, collaboration, and inspiration.

Warm regards,

Riza Sani

A photograph of a Balinese temple at sunset. The scene is dominated by a large, bright yellow sun positioned centrally within a stone archway. The archway is flanked by two traditional Balinese pavilions with dark, tiered roofs. The foreground features a wide set of stone steps leading up to the archway, with red flowers and stone carvings on either side. The sky is a soft, warm orange, and the overall atmosphere is serene and peaceful.
